Job Summary

Behavioral Health Specialists provide clinical mental health and substance use treatment services, case management and care coordination for a caseload of adolescents in our residential treatment program. They work in collaboration with the client and the treatment team to create and implement developmentally appropriate evidenced based clinical interventions and trauma-informed therapies that promote improved behavioral and symptom management. They also provide clinical consultation, technical expertise, and training to treatment staff on appropriate ways to attend to youth's mental and behavioral health needs as well as implement and oversee the residential milieu's behavior management program (Collaborative Problem Solving) and ensure its delivery is in alignment with best practices, is strengths based, and is developmental in design.
